Re: _____ v. _____; Case No. _____
_____ County Case No. _____

Letter Brief pursuant to In re Phoenix H. (2009) 47 Cal.4th 835 and In re Sade C. (1996) 13 Cal.4th 952

Dear Justice Hill:

This Letter Brief is submitted pursuant to In re Phoenix H. (2009) 47 Cal.4th 835 and In re Sade C. (1996) 13 Cal.4th 952. Court-appointed appellate counsel has found no issues on appeal and submits this brief setting out the applicable facts, procedure and law.

STATEMENT OF APPEALABILITY

This appeal, filed by [appellant's name] (hereinafter "[appellant's name]") on [notice of appeal date] (CT XX), is from [order date] Family Code¹ sections 7822 and 8604 orders clear and convincing evidence that [appellant's name]'s child, [child's name], (hereinafter "[child's name]") should be declared free from the custody and control of [appellant's name], [child's name] is adoptable and it is in [his/her] best interests to be declared free from [appellant's name]'s custody and control and there is no less detrimental alternative. (CT XX.)

ABBREVIATED INTEGRATED STATEMENT OF THE CASE AND FACTS

[Briefly state the facts here.]

APPLICABLE LEGAL AUTHORITIES

[Briefly review the relevant authorities here.]

While this court may dismiss the indigent parent's appeal (In re Sade C. (1996) 13 Cal.4th 952, 994), it "has the discretion to permit the parent to personally file a brief and must do so only upon a showing of good cause that an arguable issue does, in fact, exist." (In re Phoenix H., supra, 47 Cal.4th at pp. 844-845.)

¹ All further references to the Code are to the Family Code unless otherwise stated.

CONCLUSION

Pursuant to In re Phoenix H., supra, 47 Cal.4th 835 and In re Sade C., supra, 13 Cal.4th 952, court-appointed appellate counsel has found no issues on appeal and requests that appellant be given thirty days to make a good cause showing that an arguable issue does exist. I have read the entire record. Counsel has corresponded with appellant in English [and Spanish if applicable] concerning my findings and advised appellant that this letter brief will be filed and that [she/he] may be provided the opportunity to personally make a good cause showing that an arguable issue does exist and that if [she/he] does not do so, the appeal may be dismissed.

Appellant respectfully requests that this court permit appellant the opportunity to personally file a letter to make a good cause showing that an arguable issue does exist.

Respectfully submitted,
